Berlin's urban area, which has a population of around 4.5 million, is the second most populous urban area in Germany after the Ruhr

